研究成果報告書

はしがき

本研究の目的は、パーソナル・コンピュータを利用し、G. チョーサーの『カンタベリー物語』(The Canterbury Tales)の84写本のうち最も重要であると考えられるHengwrt(以下、Hg)写本とEllesmere(以下、E1)写本のテキスト校合を行うことである。Hg写本は、最も古い写本であり、その分チョーサーのオリジナルに最も近いと考えられている。一方、E1写本は、写字生の編集が周到に施され、その分最も完成に近いもので、従来多くの刊本のベースにされてきた。本研究は、この対極的な写本の校合を通して、チョーサーの英語の実相をより網羅的・客観的に把握することを可能にした。

また本研究は、チョーサー及び中英語テキストのデータベース化という国際的研究動向に対応したものである。Hg, E1写本のCD版テキストが、The Canterbury Tales Project (Estelle Stubbsの編集)より2000年に出たが、コンコードダンス作成ないし語彙研究は今後の課題として残っていた。比較コンコードダンス作成は、Norman Blake教授(元Sheffield大学)とEstelle Stubbs博士(Sheffield大学)の協力を得て押し進めた。平成14年度のGeneral Prologueのコンコードダンス(Jimura, Nakao, Matsuo, Blake, and Stubbs (2002)を参照)に引き続き、平成15年度は、*The Knight's Tale*のコンコードダンス及び両写本のワードペア網羅的リストを作成した。2写本のデータを客観的に検出し、言語特徴を記述できたことで、チョーサーの言語の研究を大きく発展させるものと期待できる。

A Comprehensive Collation of the Hengwrt and Ellesmere Manuscripts of The Canterbury Tales: The Knight's Tale

Introduction

What follows is a partial interim report of a computer-assisted comprehensive textual comparison between the Hengwrt Manuscript and the Ellesmere Manuscript of The Canterbury Tales by Geoffrey Chaucer. Since there have been found no Chaucer's autographs, we have no choice but to reconstruct his language either through the extant manuscripts of his works, or through the editions based on one of these manuscripts or on the combination of these. There are eighty four extant manuscripts containing (part of) The Canterbury Tales. Of these manuscripts, the Hengwrt Manuscript is the oldest and therefore regarded as closest to Chaucer's original, and the Ellesmere Manuscript is the edited and revised version of the Hengwrt, which was completed about a decade after by the same scribe. Jimura, Nakao and Matsuo (1995) undertook a comparison of Blake's (1980) and Robinson's (1957) editions. The former edition is a faithful reconstruction of the Hengwrt Manuscript and the latter is primarily based on the Ellesmere Manuscript. For an exhaustive and descriptive concordance to Blake's edition, see Blake, Burnley, Nakao and Matsuo (1994). Our project is a sequel to Jimura, Nakao and Matsuo (1995), but here the objects of our comparison are not editions but manuscripts themselves. The Hengwrt Chaucer Digital Facsimile (ed. Estelle Stubbs, 2000) is one of the marvelous contributions of The Canterbury Tales Project (general director, Norman Blake) to the text criticism of Chaucer. The textual collation between the Hengwrt and Ellesmere Manuscripts is available on the CDROM (the left column for the Hengwrt Manuscript, the right column for the Ellesmere), through which we can detect similarities and differences in a variety of linguistic items between the two. But those data are not retrievable in a dictionary format as we (1995) did, where we can identify every single variation line by line very easily (the upper line shows Blake's edition (this time the Hengwrt Manuscript) and the lower line Robinson's (this time the Ellesmere)) and thus easily keep it in our memory. Stubbs (2000) will, we hope, be complemented by our comparative concordance.

Our basic method in this study is to compare the two manuscripts line by line, and then to compare them word by word within pairs of "the same lines." Here, by word we mean every element regarded as composing a manuscript line including caesura, etc. In order to perform this kind of comparison, it is first necessary for us to make pairs of corresponding lines, taking one from the Hengwrt Manuscript and the other from the Ellesmere. In this study we have fortunately obtained permission to use the machine readable text compiled by Stubbs, in which lines are made to correspond. These electronic texts are faithfully reconstructed from the two Manuscripts, covering those differences ranging from lexis/syntax, through illuminations/caesuras/letters with flourishes, to punctuations, which Blake and Robinson (1993) describes in great detail. To supplement these electronic data, we also used P. G. Ruggiers (1979) and Ralph Hanna III (1989).

In "Lines with Different Word Forms," which constitutes the main body of the present report, we have listed all the pairs of lines, both those lines which contain one or more differences, e.g. word with different spellings including upper/lower case differences, different locations of caesura, different punctuations, different syntactic positions, etc, and those which are completely identical. The list is created by a text collation program (txtcmpm.exe) developed by our member, Matsuo. In producing the interim list, (1) we added folio references like "15v," (2) if a line is missing in one manuscript, we indicated it by the missing symbols below. For each pair, the upper line shows the Hengwrt Manuscript and the lower line the Ellesmere. We have printed the complete line in the Hengwrt Manuscript, but only the words and other elements which show differences in the Ellesmere.

We have treated some of the compound words in a rather special way. When there appears a compound word with no space such as "nothyng" in one manuscript, and the corresponding compound words is spelled as two words with a space in-between in the other manuscript as in the case of "no thyng," we have treated the latter, i. e. "no thyng" as one compound word corresponding to "nothyng." The symbol (#) indicates that we did not find the corresponding words (illumination, word, caesura, punctuation, etc.) in one of the manuscripts.

In the conventions and the forms of special letters, we followed The Hengwrt Chaucer Digital Facsimile (Henceforth CD Version).

(1) conventions

What follows is the conventions we followed with minor differences. In expaling them, the following symbols will be used.

v... stands for any string of letters.

z... stands for a single letter.

n... any number.

{nz} represents an ornamental capital with the size of n times as large as the normal capital.

{v} stands for an emphasis.

\ v / (v enclosed by a back slash and a slash) represents an addition. Though they are superscribed in the CD version, they are not in our version.

∇ or * stands for a deleted string.

?v? stands for a dubious string of letters.

{ } stands for a string of spaces.

| | stands for a string supplied by the editor in the CD Version.

(2) special letters

For the printing of this type of text collation a special set of fonts is necessary. First the fonts should be of fixed width. The normal proportional fonts would not have allowed us to place a corresponding pair of word forms exactly at the same position in the printed lines or on the screen. Secondly, it should contain non-standard letters used in the manuscript such as 7, d̄, ñ and so on. We borrowed most of these from Stubbs (2000)'s font set, "chtrcup.ttf," for the use of which special thanks are due to her. Of course we later transformed them into fixed width. The only one exception is the semicolon. In the CD Version it is represented in a form which is a little different from the modern one, but we used the modern form.

The list of fonts we used is given in the appendix.

Although the present list is only the first stage of our study, it comprises the basic material for a further quantitative and qualitative study of the differences in spelling, lexis, syntax, punctuation, etc. between the two Manuscripts. This is part of the international project for compiling Chaucer's collation-concordances under the agreement of Sheffield University (Norman F Blake, the late Professor David Burnley, Ms. Estelle Stubbs) and Hiroshima University (Yoshiyuki Nakao, Akiyuki Jimura, and Masatsugu Matsuo). In this project we have already published part of our study with respect to General Prologue (see Jimura, Nakao and Matsuo (2002b)). Our report this time is devoted to The Knight's Tale. The collation to other tales will be published in future.

A few samples will be shown about what can be retrieved from the collation text. We can find that there is a difference between the Hengwrt and the Ellesmere Manuscripts, for instance, in spellings of a word, choices of a word, and syntactic preferences. First, variations of a word form are observed: 'forms of negative adverb' [noght—nat] (237, 343, 368, 616, 712, 730, 736, 737, 1034, 1156, 1381, 1396, 1495, 1683, 1710: the example of the Hengwrt Manuscript is on the left, and that of the Ellesmere on the right), [nat—noght] (600, 1109, 1406, 1591, 1905, 2096), [noght—noght] (735, 1163, 1380, 1399, 1422, 1694, 1790), [nat—nat] (1205, 1216, 1387, 2179); 'the existence of infinitive ending -en' [zero-en---en] (helpe--helpen 292, do--doon 390, haue--han 397, 935, sle--sleen 788, be--been 917, 1523, 1430, 1493, clepe--clepen 1870, refresshe--fresshen 1764, conclude--concluden 2203), [-en--zero-en] (fighten--fighte 1257, leyen--leye 2002), [-en---en] (letten--letten 31, lyuen--lyuen 58, abiden--abyden 69, suffren--suffren 87, synken--synken 93, doon--doon 102, 135, 189, speken--speken 127, dwellen--dwellen 165, seene--seen 177, tellen--tellen 201, sayn--seyen 293, loken--looken 925, been--ben 1477, 1888, 1560, 1695, been--been 52, 88, etc.), [zero-en--zero-en] (heere--heere 17, ere--ere 28, telle--telle 32, wynne--wynne 33, bigynne--bigynne 34, falle--falle 63, ete--ete 89, speke--speke 95, breke--breke 96, wreke--wreke 103, speke--speke 104, go--go 110, ryde--ride 110, take--take 111, dwelle--dwelle 115, telle--telle 116, 142, deuyse--deuyse 136, ransake--ransake 147, strepe--strepe 148, quyte--quite 174, do--do 182, haue--haue 184, 188, sterte--sterte 186, ryse--ryse 189, make--make 196, etc.); 'Latin spelling--OF spelling' subtil--soutil (1172, 1191).

Second, we can detect a number of examples of lexical substitution. They are according to parts of speech as follows: in the case of simple correspondence--nouns (sauour--odour 2074, sight--fight 1631, fyr--place 2088), adjective (fairer--fyner 181, sorwefuller--wofuller 482, strong--long 566, loude--murie 1704), verbs (helpe--heele 390, toold--seyd 726, maken--holde 1091, hadde--ladde 1418, kan--gan 1594, falle--be 1697, stomben--semblen 1755, hurteth--hurtleth 1758, gynneth--bigynneth 2154, ryde--trede 2158), preposition (in--on 112, to--of 308, fro--from 412, 585, of--on 421, on--in 835, 1347, on--from 1123, at--in 1334, on--in 1347, of--to 1364, to--of 1364, vp on--vn 2030, for--of 2147), pronouns (it--hym 186, it--he 461, his--hir 1265, I--we 2210, youre--thyn 2213), demonstratives/articles (the--this 210, the--that 365, this--the 776, the--a 656, the--tho 1004, thise--the 1231), conjunctions (nor--ne 965, of--and 1054, and--or 1246, 1292, 1343, 1463, or--and 1465); in the case of complex correspondence--the--his 846, noyse--now 1816, worldly--worldes 1985, fered--fere 2066.

Third, as regards syntactic variation, there is a difference in word order: he ful soone--ful soone he 164, moot he dwelle--he moot dwelle 492, oother of hem--of hem oother 890, anoon the ground vp yaf--the ground anon vp yaf 1569, leet anoon comaunde--leet comande anon 2001, yolden is vp his breath--vp yolden is his breath 2188. There is a difference in the use of tense: ryt--rood 168, maketh--maked 188, mote--moste 233, resowneth--resouned 420, weex--wexeth 504, moste--moot 619, wolde--wolt 766, maad--make 1047, is--was 1107, 1474, 1670, loueth--loued 2199. We find a difference in double negation: ther nys namoore to seye--ther is namoore to seye 264, It were to thee ... no greet honour--It nere ... to thee no greet honour 271, No thyng knew he--No thyng ne knew he 661, I nyl nat faille--I wol nat faille 752, it nere no charge--it were no charge 1429, ther nys namoore to seye--ther is namoore to seye 1508, Ther nedeth / noon auctoritee--Ther nedeth noght noon auctoritee 2136. We find a difference in ellipsis: # sodeynly--al sodeynly 672 (The mark # indicates the ellipsis of the word in question), # olde walles wyde--hise olde walles wyde 1022, I rekned # and rekne shal--I rekrned haue and rekne shal 1075, # compaignye--the compaignye 1453, that # moeuere--that same moeuere 2130, tho dayes # abregge--tho dayes wel abregge 2135, by this ordre # discerne--by this ordre wel discerne 2139, Thanne # se ye--Thanne may ye se 2162, er # we / departen--er that we departen, al this # world--al this wyde world 2235.

Please refer to the Appendix, An Exhaustive List of Word Form Pairs, at the end of this report.

As we said earlier, we have already made a textual comparison between Blake's edition and Robinson's (Benson's (1987) will be added in future). In future, our comparison will be more expanded, and applied to both the editions and the Manuscripts, which will enable us to exhaustively see the similarities and differences between the edited texts and the manuscripts they are based on. Our tentative approach to this is shown with some illustration in Nakao, Jimura and Matsuo (forthcoming). We hope that this study will contribute to the text criticism of Chaucer and thus to a better reconstruction of his own language and text.

We would like to express our heartfelt thanks to Professor Norman F. Blake, formerly of Sheffield University, the late Professor David Burnley, formerly of Sheffield University, for useful information about the manuscripts, and also for various ways of making, retrieving data from, the electronic corpus. We miss David, a partner of our Project, very much. Our thanks also go to Dr. R. A. Exley, Head of IP and Marketing Technology Transfer Office, University of Sheffield, who kindly permitted us to use the electronic database of The Hengwrt Chaucer-Digital Facsimile.

We further acknowledge our gratitude to Professor Terry Hoad of Oxford University, who has suggested a way to index the kind of differences noted--lexical, grammatical, orthographic, etc. as an appendage to the body part of the concordance mentioned above. This suggestion will benefit our future study.

We hope that this list of textual comparison will be of help to all those who are concerned with medieval English language and literature, as well as specialists in the language of Chaucer. Finally we would like to express our appreciation to Department of English Language and Linguistics, Sheffield University, The Canterbury Tales Project, Sheffield University and De Montfort University (Dr. Peter Robinson), the Graduate School of Education, Hiroshima University, the Graduate School of Letters, Hiroshima University, and the Institute for Peace Science, Hiroshima University.
